

MARINE COOKING

College of the North Atlantic is now accepting applications for the Marine Cooking programs at campuses in St. John's and Gander.

College of the North Atlantic's 42-week Marine Cooking program prepares students for careers as marine cooks, working in an offshore environment. The Transport Canada curriculum includes STCW-endorsed Basic Safety (A1), Marine Advanced First Aid and a 28-day work-term working in the galley on an off-shore commercial vessel.
